Read all about it

Communication can be beyond the spoken words and many children begin to access language using symbols. Some may continue to use Alternative and augmentative communication to express themselves or to support their verbal language.

In this practical session we will think about how the adult as a communication partner can best support children in interactions and then how to introduce and continue to implement the use of paper based AAC in the setting.

Who is this training session for?

This session is suitable for all members of the children's workforce in the borough of Halton, who support children in early years and key stage 1 environments including Nursery Practitioners, Childminders, Teachers, Teaching Assistants, Early Help Officers, Members of the Health Visiting Team and such like.

How is this session being delivered?

This one and a half hour in person training package is being delivered by one of Communicate SLT's Specialist Speech and Language Therapists at a venue to be confirmed at time of publishing this event.

You will receive a calendar invite and joining instructions in due course, after submitting a MS Form.
